Computer Science

I am passionate about computer science and technology, with a particular interest in computers and hardware components. I enjoy exploring and understanding how computer systems work, and I have solid knowledge in assembling and optimizing them. I am always looking for opportunities to expand my knowledge and apply the new skills I acquire.

PROJECTS

ITStepBot

Between 2016 and 2021, I was a student at the STEP IT Junior Academy. At the end of the final year, we had to complete a project and present it. Using the knowledge I had acquired, I decided to program a Discord bot in Python. The bot I created, called ItStep Bot, has the following main functions: it automatically responds to messages, allows users to request a song, and the bot automatically joins a voice channel to play the requested song, along with other functionalities. This project helped me better understand the basics of Python, and I successfully graduated from the Academy.
